Definitions:

Field Training Officer (FTO) – an experienced officer whose performance displays exemplary abilities, desire, and achievement. Their duties and responsibilities are to train the PPO during the probationary period, enabling them to work a solo assignment.

Probationary Police Officer (PPO) – a sworn employee who is under provisional status. The probationary period is one year from the date of being sworn in as a police officer. Probationary police officers may be removed for cause during the first six months of the probationary period. Probationary police officers may be removed without right of appeal during the last six months of the probationary period.

Lateral Entry Officer (LEO) – a current OPOTA certified peace officer who qualifies and is hired by the City of Cincinnati to become a PPO for the Police Department. The amount of classroom training and field training involving LEOs is determined by the Training and Development Section Commander and approved by the Police Chief.

Remedial Training – any instruction given during Phase II or Phase III of the probationary training period. This training is designed to enhance deficient areas in the PPO's ability to perform job duties.

Recruit Book – a guideline and evaluation instrument designed to document the PPO's performance ability and skill level. This handbook provides an overall view of the police work accomplished by the PPO.

Purpose:

Provide for a formal and uniform on-the-job training period.

Provide experience, guidance, and supervision so the PPO may develop the knowledge, skill, and abilities to demonstrate a high degree of proficiency in judgment, conduct, appearance, job skills, problem-solving, and interpersonal relationship skills.
