

City Police Try County Network

A loop of the Hamilton County Police Teletype Network will be installed at Cincinnati Police Department's Station X for a three-week trial period.

Police Chief Stanley Schrotel said today the loop will be tested to determine if this supplementary monitoring service is worth the expense. It costs about $22 to install the machine, with a $34 monthly rental fee. The line charges are paid by the Hamilton County Police Assn.

The loop now connects the Communications Center, the sheriff's office and 21 suburban police departments.
